

Dears,

It is a great pleasure for us to invite you to the international scientific conference Membrane and Electromembrane Processes MELPRO 2014 organised by the Czech Membrane Platform and the Institute of Macromolecular Chemistry of Academy of Sciences of the Czech Republic.

The conference goal is to present recent advances in electromembrane processes and in the integrated processes involving at least one electromembrane step. The conference vision can be summarised as follows:

- The conference presents connection between industrial and academic spheres. MELPRO is conference where industry meets science.
- Exhibition and presentation of industrial and innovative companies in the field of electromembrane and integrated membrane processes.
- Increased attention to the integrated membrane processes with high potential for industrial applications.
- Providing a sufficient space for presentation of the research work performed by students and young researchers - Student Award.

Karel Bouzek, Chairman of the Scientific Committee

Lubos Novak, Vice-chairman of the Scientific Committee

Conference Venue

The conference will provide attractive social program with ample opportunities for networking and exploring the rich culture and surroundings of beautiful Prague.

Prague is called Mother of Cities. Since the Middle Ages, this historical city, is famous for its history and beauty, known for its attributes such as golden, royal, of a hundred spires.
